Welcome Autumn! It’s time for cool breezes, apples, pumpkins, and gatherings to celebrate the harvest. The Dover COA invites you to gather with us as Moveable Feast and Circle of Friends lunches return to the local churches. Join us as Mass Audubon’s Broadmoor Wildlife Sanctuary presents backyard birds or at our annual Halloween party sponsored by Franchi Healthcare. Is brunch more your style? Bring a friend and attend the annual Harvest Brunch fundraiser at the Dover Legion hosted by the Friends of the COA.

We are very grateful for the Friends of COA and the many programs their funds provide to our community. Lifetime Learning classes sponsored by the Friends return for their Fall session include Memoir Writing, John Updike, Hearing Loss, Ethics for Everyday Life, Opera, and Fun with Ukulele (See page 8). Come learn at other Friends of COA sponsored events from Japanese brush painting to cooking classes at Powisset Farm. Enjoy a free classical concert featuring violinist Daniel Kurganov and pianist Constantine Finehouse hosted at The Dover Church. Travel with us to Tower Hill or Cape Ann Museum with transportation and docent tours funded by our Friends. Sample the weekly harvest of fresh vegetables from Powisset Farm, another program funded by the Friends. We appreciate the funding and support for these many programs.

Other featured programs include Planning for Medicare, where expert Sue Flanagan will explain the complex and confusing options for those turning 65 or re-enrolling in a plan, and a Shredding Day, sponsored by Norfolk County District Attorney’s office, to safely dispose of your personal documents.

There is something for everyone at the COA. Please stop in to see us at the Caryl Community Center, and we can celebrate Autumn together.

OUTREACH CORNER
By Nan Vaida, RN, COA Outreach Worker

Savings, Savings, Savings!
The amount of material we receive via technology is daunting to get through. Television, your computer, and your mailbox bombard you with information on a daily basis.

Every now and then something worthwhile makes its way to our attention and a recent example of excellent and practical information comes in an article from the AARP Bulletin of July/August 2019. The write-up, compiled by Hopkins et al, has over 50 ways seniors can save in practical, easy to do ways. Here are some favorites:

1. Buy gas on Monday and avoid late week fill-ups. The gasoline industry releases a report on petroleum supplies Wednesday so Thursdays and Fridays are when the hike in price occurs. The GasBuddy app will list locally lowest prices.

2. Are you about to throw out a toaster or lamp that doesn’t work? Check out a local “Repair Café.” People gather to work together with technical volunteers to make what’s wrong right. To find locations in our area, search “repair cafe” online to see what is available close to you.

3. Raise your homeowner’s insurance deductible even just $500 and you may save up to 25% on your premium.

4. Stop avoiding buying store brands! For example, Tylenol, generically known as acetaminophen, is substantially less under a store brand name and the quality is good. This is true for grocery items as well.

There are so many more suggestions in this article! They are well thought out and applicable in our daily lives. For the full list, stop in at the COA!

FLU CLINIC
Tuesday, October 15; 1:00-4:00pm

ETHICS FOR EVERYDAY LIFE
Wednesdays, 10:00 - 11:30am
October 2, 16, 30, November 13; Cost $35
Classes meet at Dover Library, Community Room
Everyday we make ethical choices, usually without giving them much thought. But sometimes we wonder what to do. Is it okay ever to lie? Are we moral failures if we slip away from our New Year’s Resolutions? Should we be able to choose the genes of our descendants? Genes for sale? And what do we owe each other? These questions have been addressed by philosophers, and we will discuss what they had to say. Short readings and ample time for discussion.

Maud Chaplin received her Professor of Emerita from Wellesley College where she taught for 44 years.

In this course we will read two short stories and one of his most well-regarded novels, Rabbit, Run (1960). Meetings will include a mini-lecture and a discussion of readings.
